When Is A Walk-In Shower Right For Me?

Walk In Showers have a small step (40mm or 1.5") up on to the shower tray.

Unlike level access showers, walk-in showers feature a minimal height shower tray, making them ideal for people with mobility issues or the elderly, but who can still step onto a shallow shower tray. This design simplifies entry and exit, enhancing safety and independence in the bathroom. Their adaptable layout fits various bathroom sizes, offering a range of enclosure options.

Ease of Entry: Minimal (40mm or 1.5") high tray for simple, safe access, ideal for mobility issues or elderly.

Enhanced Safety: Anti slip floor surfaces promote independence in the bathroom, reducing slip risks and improving overall user confidence.

Versatile Design: Adaptable to any bathroom size; offers a variety of stylish enclosure options for aesthetic preference.

Practical Accessibility: Ideal for those who can step onto a shallow tray, bridging the gap between standard and level-access showers.

Bathroom Accessories

Not ready for a full upgrade? Here's our collection of mobility accessories you can use to upgrade your existing bathroom.

Grab Rails

Grab Rails are designed to improve user safety and help with mobility in a variety of tasks in the bathroom and around the home. Grab bars are practical and durable assistive products, which are ideal for the elderly and disabled, providing confidence and stability for the user.

Shower Seats

If you have difficulties with balance and mobility, this can be challenging. In order to help you with that, Shower Chairs and Shower Stools allow you to sit comfortably in the shower without the risk of slipping over and causing yourself injury.

Drop Down Toilet Arms

A Drop Down Toilet Arm is essential for getting on and off the toilet, designed to deliver additional support for individuals with reduced mobility.

Anti-Slip Flooring

Anti-slip flooring has been designed to help prevent slips and falls within the bathroom; an area of the home which is typically high risk due to the often wet and slippery surfaces.
